

Tentative County Budget Calls for $98,992 Boost

A tentative county budget totaling $2,772,647 has been proposed by the Twin Falls county commission, up $98,992 over last year's figure. Harold Lancaster, county clerk, said the mill levy, which will be set in September, should be about the same as last year—1.52 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation—or possibly a little less. This will be enabled, Lancaster said, because of an approximate two-million-dollar increase in county property values due to completion of the revaluation program.

Major increases in the budget include about a $14,000 increase for the county clerk's office, to provide new office machinery and additional employees; $14,000 for the sheriff's office to provide for hiring two new deputies and other increased expenses; about $14,000 for the county treasurer's office, mainly for new equipment.

The county hospital budget showed a proposed increase of about $67,000, from $1,688,850 to $1,755,840. Most of the increase will be used to remodel hospital facilities.

Other department budgets, tentative 1965 figures first, followed by 1964 figures, are: Prosecuting attorney, $20,330, $20,274; probate court, $28,230, $26,280; janitors, $77,880, $76,460; county commissioners, $23,980, $21,360; justice court, $17,110, $16,700; district court, $19,750, $17,650; zoning, $10,000, both this year and last; jailor, $21,620, $24,830.

County agent, $14,770, $15,894; auditor's office, $54,348, $52,798; road eradication, $62,730, $60,940; election, $15,000, $39,000 (decrease due to the election last year; cor-rected, $15,000, $23,500).

A general figure for 1965 of $64,000 has been set compared to $49,000 for last year; public health, $48,577, $45,641; poor fund, $30,852, $13, $22,740; and county fair, $96,100, $91,300.

Directors ofCanal Firm*Are Reelected

Incumbents were reelected to the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company following the company's annual meeting in a day-long session Tuesday in the Idaho Power company auditorium.

Reelected are Edward Reichert, Tom Olmstead, Fayne Frahm, Al Kramer and Saul Moore. Balloting was done at the Canal company office.

Reporting to the membership on the activities of the company were Alfred Peters, canal company manager; Lowell Wilson, canal company treasurer, and R. P. Parry, Twin Falls attorney.

Peters told the membership he believed the company is in good financial shape considering it hadn't increased its maintenance levy since 1949.

An estimated 80 people attended the general session.

Three Bills On Boat Tags Introduced

BOISE, Jan. 13 (AP)—Three bills affecting the licensing of boats were introduced in the Idaho senate yesterday by the transportation and defense committee.

Two of them eliminate present requirements that license plates must be attached to boats but retain a provision that licenses must be obtained for boats.

The third increases from 60 to 90 days the period in which boats registered in other states could operate in Idaho without being licensed.

Sen. Lloyd Barron, R., Camas, transportation committee chairman, said the latter change was necessary to make Idaho laws conform with federal regulations.

Upper Priest Lake Bill Is Introduced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Idaho's two U. S. senators introduced a bill yesterday they said would save upper Priest Lake in the Idaho panhandle from commercial development.

The bill would authorize purchase of remaining private lake front for inclusion in the Kaniksu national forest. The secretary of agriculture would be authorized to buy the 417 acres.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Frank Church, D.-Ida., and was co-sponsored by Sen. Len Jordan, R., Ida.

"Last year, when it appeared that commercial development was a certainty," said Church, "a national semi-scientific organization came to the rescue with a loan to the owners to buy an extra year's time in which to save the lake."

Nearly all witnesses favored preserving the lake in its wild state during public hearings conducted by the senate subcommittee on public lands last year. Church said.

He said the department of agriculture favors the plan contained in his bill.

The truck is owned by Sinclair refining company, Boise. Damage was estimated at $45 at the car, but no estimate was given for the truck.

No citation was issued and no injuries reported.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY—Numerous patches of night and morning fog, otherwise mostly sunny today and Thursday. Winds less than 15 miles an hour. No important change in temperature. High in 30s, lows 17-25, except 6-18 over Camas prairie. Outlook for Friday little change. Low temperatures at 8 a.m. 22 at Jerome, 17 at T. F. entomology laboratory with 84 per cent humidity; 12 at Rupert, 8 at Fairfield, 18 at Buhl, 16 at Castleford, 14 at noon, 33 at T. F. weather bureau with 85 per cent humidity. Barometer 30.43.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY—A large area of high pressure covers the states west of the Rockies except southern California and Arizona, and is expected to remain over this area with little change in weather conditions for the next two or three days. A stable air mass and snow cover or moist ground will favor considerable night and morning fog in the lower valleys. Otherwise today and Thursday nights will be mostly sunny.

Daytime temperatures are expected to show little change ranging from the upper 30s and low 40s in the valleys of southwestern Idaho to the upper 20s to mid 30s in the valleys of southeastern Idaho. Nighttime temperatures will show considerable variation, with lows tonight in the 20s in foggy areas and in the teens or 20s where skies are mostly clear. Camas prairie may expect lows between 0 and 10 above.

Reports this morning show a range of afternoon temperatures yesterday from 23 at Fairfield to 43 at Emmett. Clear skies during the night allowed temperatures to drop to 15 at Twin Falls, 13 at Burley and 11 at Castleford, while fog or low clouds held minimums in the lower 20s at Boise, Gooding, Jerome and parts of the upper Snake river valley.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

High pressure is expected to continue the dominating feature over the Northwestern states, with the track of Pacific storms diverted well to the north through Canada.

Temperatures are expected to average near or slightly above normal, with mostly small changes from day to day and with more variability in nighttime temperatures due to variations in cloud cover or fog. Some spot normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding 28-11, Twin Falls 35-15 and Burley 31-11.

Precipitation appears most likely about the first part of next week with a weak frontal system moving through the area occurring as scattered light snow mainly in northern parts.

Sunshine will average around 25 to 40 per cent of possible, with cloudiness averaging .5 to .8 of the sky covered.

TEMPERATURE AND PRECIPITATION

Sales Tax Question to Be Argued Several Times

BY KARL L. JESTER
TWIN FALLS, Jan. 13 (UPI)—Does Idaho want a sales tax? That's a question that is certain to be argued—sometimes before the 1965 Idaho legislature reaches a decision.

The answer rests largely on whether Idaho wants to spend considerably more money on its state governmental services.

Idaho's state aid for education is content with the present budget.

The argument is likely to return largely around those two points.

For the first time in his 10 years as the state's chief executive, Gov. Robert E. Smiley in his state of the state message this year called for a sales tax.

In past sessions he has offered alternatives to the legislature.

He has outlined a budget that could be financed without a sales tax. But he has told the lawmakers, in effect, that if they passed a sales tax bill to finance a more liberal budget, he would sign it.

Smiley said he came out with a definite recommendation this year because he thinks the people are ready for it. He says it is a matter of timing, and "now is the time."

The governor said the sales tax is needed to provide revenue adequate to the state's needs in education, public health and conservation.

They might argue that if the need is figured by the departments and agencies at that level, the revenue must be increased sharply to meet it.

Estimates by State Budget Director Don L. Walker are that the present tax structure will bring in about $83 million dollars in general fund revenue in the two-year period beginning next July 1.

If all spending requests are met it would take around $5 million dollars in new tax revenue. Certainly that amount could be obtained only with a sales tax.

But opponents of a sales tax might point to what has been done in the past two years as proof of their contention that the levy is not needed. They could argue that the 153 million dollars in requests does not accurately reflect the state's need.

The 1963 levy was appropriated $10.9 million dollars for general fund agencies. But because of a Holdback order those agencies actually may spend only about $7 million.

It might be argued that if they could operate on that amount in the present two-year period, there is no justification for a $5 million dollar boost.

Where are the areas in which Idaho has suffered?

Several alternatives to a sales tax have been suggested.

One is an increased head tax, say of 30 dollars per return instead of the present $10. The present levy brings in about seven million dollars a biennium, thus a 30 dollar tax could be expected to yield three times that.

Also suggested is a head tax of 10 dollars on every individual, not on each return. On the basis of a population of 700,000 that would bring in seven million a year, or 14 million dollars for the biennium. But again only seven million a biennium would be available for the general fund.

The answer lies with the people — through the legislature.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — No tax collector stands a chance of being voted Mr. America, but Sheldon Stanley Cohen pounds at a typewriter like a guy who could make April 15 a little less painful for an ordinary bloke. Cohen, recently named commissioner of the internal revenue service, says he wants the service and the taxpayer to be friends.

That is to say, Cohen hopes to bring the mission of the IRS home to the public on the theory that if the public understands the service it might develop a higher threshold of tolerance toward tax collectors. Cohen's predecessor, Mortimer Caplin, took some lopsided strides in this direction with frequent speeches and an improved corps of press agents, and it's nice to know that Cohen also believes in telling the IRS story.

100 BILLION DOLLAR ARMY—Though everybody pays taxes, few Americans are aware of the enormous bureaucratic empire charged with their collection. Cohen will boss more than 80,000 employees engaged in the world's biggest business with an annual gross of more than 100 billion dollars. This community of 80,000 is larger than the city of Tucson and twice the size of Reno, yet Cohen must accept the responsibility for its purity at a salary of only $28,500.

Merely guarding the morale of this huge force is a full-time job. In fiscal year 1964, the inspection service of IRS—a kind of intramural police force—filed 701 disciplinary actions against employees, resulting in 271 dismissals. This should be reassuring to the taxpayer, because before the inspection service was established by Harry Truman in 1951 there were only 126 disciplinary actions and only 63 dismissals, despite the atmosphere of corruption which hung over IRS.

AGENTS' LIFE NOT A HAPPY ONE—Because Americans by and large resent the income tax system, the life of an IRS agent is often unhappy and sometimes precarious. Crooked taxpayers faced with long jail terms have been known to try to eliminate the agents handling their cases by offering bribes for cooperation. Over the years, there has been a good handful of cases in which a taxpayer hired a private detective to tail an agent, hoping to get something on him that would taint his testimony. One district attorney even assigned state troopers to shadow the agent prosecuting his tax case.

Another hazard is the anonymous letter-writer. IRS is bound to scan such letters closely, since it gets most of its tips on shenanigans in that way, but it also must be on its guard against troublemakers. These files bulge with letters charging agents with everything from larceny to wife-beating, none of which are based on fact.

BRIEF? NO. Theft—Often, too, a citizen will accuse an agent of corruption merely to cover up his own speculations. There was the partner in Chicago tavern who said he had given an agent a $200 bribe for services rendered. Turned out the guy had lifted the $200 from the till to pay a horse-racing debt.

Still, the IRS manages to get a chuckle out of some of these attempts to intimidate its agents by name-calling. Agents have been called little Hitlers, big Hitlers, tools of Queen Elizabeth and Moscow spies, but the championship in this field is claimed by the Milwaukee office, whose morning mail brought a letter addressed to "Dishonest Tax Crook and District Director of Internal Revenue, Milwaukee Main Postoffice Building, Home of All U.S.A. Government Tax Crooks."

IDAHO MUST MEND FENCES

Idaho residents, in the years ahead, are going to be forced to expand their higher institutions of learning.

The reason: Out-of-state tuition charges by other states will escalate in the years ahead to a point where the average non-resident considers them prohibitive. The academic entrance standards will also tighten.

The Ogden Standard-Examiner newspaper, in a recent editorial, put the question this way to Utahans:

"Should Utah taxpayers subsidize the studies in Utah by residents of other states? If so, how much?"

At the University of Utah, it was pointed out, the 2,432 out-of-state students—19.4 per cent of the student body—now pay fees of $495 a year. This includes a special charge of $105 above resident student costs.

Some of these Utah fees are already scheduled for increases—but not enough to nearly meet the growing education deficit in Utah. In other words, they will be going up again.

The challenge is to make Idaho's institutions as accommodating and as serviceable as possible.

And this will require some dynamic expansion in the years ahead, as witnessed by the large percentage of Idaho students attending Utah schools now.

There is also cogent argument for a network of junior colleges in this new education dimension in Idaho in a supporting role to the universities, Idaho State college and the University of Idaho must address themselves to the more exacting disciplines, and the junior colleges to basic preparatory and vocational platforms.

Because Idaho Falls is close to an existing junior college which is expanding impressively, over a state college, it should be last of the major cities of the state in scaling a junior college.

The vigorous growth of the adult education programs of Brigham Young University, Pocatello College and that of Idaho State college here is another important filler of the education vacuum.

Adult education has assumed a new dimension in serviceability which has sent out enriching lines of learning and training in the community. The tremendous value of adult education in Idaho Falls has often been overlooked. Its steady growth is proof enough, however, that residents are taking advantage of a curriculum which can provide a finishing touch to previous education, fill the education gaps so that one can qualify for a new job placement, or provide the technical skills which a vacation-hungry populace needs so much.

Any way you look at it, stay-at-home schooling is becoming a necessary vogue. Idaho Falls Post-Register.

LYRICS OF THE ROAD
The Burma-Shave sign is joining the wall of the steam locomotive, the cry of "Mark Twain" from the bow of sternsteer and the shout of the wagonmaster as a relic of outmoded transport. There's no place for the little lyrics of the open road on a superhighway.

However, the nation's art, the Smithsonian Institution is preserving the one that Alexander Woolcott called the finest poem in the American language:

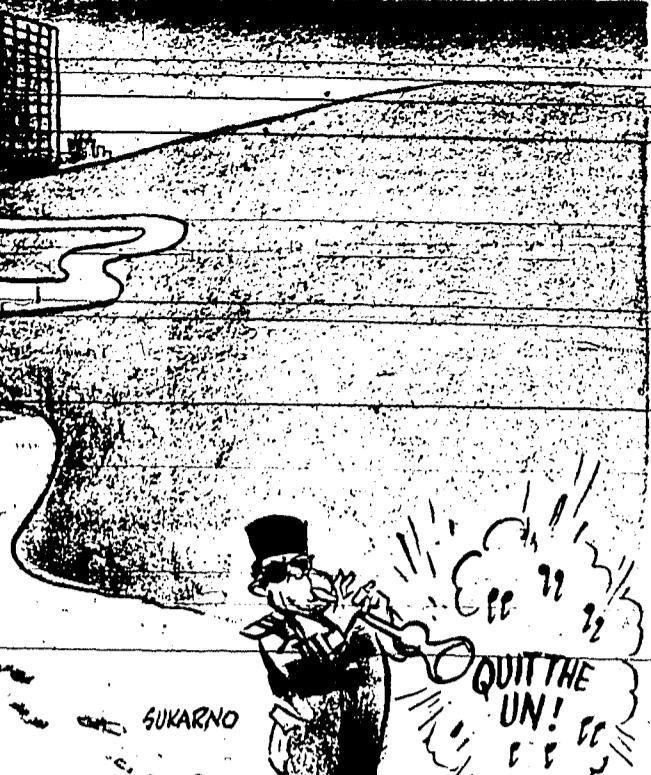

Within this vale
Of Toil and Sin
Your head grows bald
But not your chin.

SEASONAL PROSE

No Surprises

Along about in November of this year, there will be some loud screaming as owners of real property get their tax bills. Some owners of real estate won't scream because their bills will be lower than they expect, but the ones who get higher bills than they anticipated will be ready to raise the roof. It's all because of the revaluation program that will start showing up in the tax bill for 1965. The program started many months ago, but it was complicated and took a good deal of time to complete.

Right now, field men from the Twin Falls county assessor's office are marking their rounds to set assessments on property. It's a task that will take three months or longer. The figure they set this year will be different than in the past in most cases. And it's this figure on which next November's tax bill will be based. Hence, there's no reason for any property owner to be surprised at any marked difference in the year's tax bill.

The point is that the property revaluation program isn't something that was devised overnight. It's been in the works for a long time and there has been plenty of publicity connected with it. Even now, with the program taking effect this year in Twin Falls county, there's enough news coverage so that no property owner should be surprised about his tax bill in a few more months.

Twin Falls County Assessor Clifford Thompson has practically begged property owners to check with his office on new values of property. It's a safe guess that few have taken advantage of the opportunity to confer on any particular changes in the valuation of their property.

Mr. Thompson is a conscientious public official who never stops trying to explain the ins and outs of taxation. Although many unhappy taxpayers complain to the assessor, he has to explain repeatedly that his office never levies any tax. The assessor is concerned only with evaluating property. The various echelons of governmental units—from school districts to the county—set the levies that result in the tax bill.

The function of the assessor's office should be kept in mind by all property owners. It also would be gratifying to Mr. Thompson if property owners would show their concern over valuation well in advance of the date they receive their tax bills. But maybe that's asking too much.

NO END IN SIGHT

Every year an increase is reported in use of the Sawtooth national forest and 1964 was no exception. The year-end report showed 764,000 visits to the forest, an increase of some 24,000 over 1963. The report for 1965 is bound to show another increase. This forest, which lies both to the north and south of Magic Valley, is one of the most important areas for the outdoor recreation of residents. The uses are many and varied, ranging from the Sunday picnic on a hot summer afternoon to skiing.

Forest service personnel have been hard-pressed to keep pace with the demand for additional facilities, both in the northern and southern portions of the forest. Improvements and new facilities have been completed virtually every season in recent years and still demand keeps ahead of forest service crews. There's no end in sight.

Principally, the pressure comes from residents of Magic Valley who make the greatest use of the forest. However, it's estimated that one visitor in every four is from outside Idaho. The influx of persons from other states has been increasing in recent years as residents of other states—principally Utah and California—have "discovered" some of the wonderful vacationland that's included in the Sawtooth national forest. Perhaps this traffic from other states tends to increase at a faster rate than Magic Valley use, particularly in some portions of the northern division of the forest. At any rate, forest service personnel have to plan for all visitors alike, whether they're Idaho residents or visitors from other states. It's a national forest.

Perhaps the national program known as the war-on-poverty will provide some much-needed manpower to develop more facilities in the forest. If so, it might be possible for the forest service to gain a little on the ever-increasing demand. Whatever gains are made will be welcome, but short-lived. Pressure for new facilities will keep right on increasing every year for the foreseeable future. Fortunately, the total area available is adequate so long as access and proper facilities can be developed.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (UPI)—"A president," the man said, "does not shape a new and personal vision of America. He collects from the scattered hopes of the American people."

But Johnson, an awkward speaker with little apparent sense of tone or drama in the English language, lacks Roosevelt's charm, his warmth and his eloquence.

Truman was such a far-seeing and decisive man in foreign affairs that his actions there placed him high among the presidents. But at home his cocky aggressiveness was often self-defeating.

Johnson has had no problems like Truman's yet.

He is the complete opposite of Eisenhower with this one exception: In the presidency, Eisenhower made a career of trying not to offend anyone. It helped maintain his popularity but his presidency might have been more effective if he had.

Johnson does not have Kennedy's style—at times he has been corily—but he seems infinitely a better fighter, and a far more quiet one in going about getting what he wants.

Because he is a one-man show, insisting he pass upon every detail, it is plain, he has determined to put his own stamp on the presidency. The question is what kind.

If he could continue four years as he has been going—piling one success on another without inflicting visible bruises—he would probably be remembered as the first truly professional manager in the White House.

In the White House, where leadership is essential, a manager might never be enough.

But crises are bound to confront him and frustrations infuse him with the desire to improve their lives.

It could be anything, or a combination of things, from wisdom or the lack of it and energy or torpidity to emotional, belligerence, decisiveness, grace, charm, style of eloquence.

After his 13 months in the White House, what makes Johnson peculiarly Johnson is still a little veiled. He has played his cards close.

By events, or the lack of them, he has had to reveal little of himself. Critical foreign decisions have not been necessary while at home he has been passionately bent on peace if possible.

Yet, he is unlike any of his four immediate predecessors, Presidents John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman or Franklin D. Roosevelt.

If he can be said to have patterned himself even a little after

Ever since 1961—for four solid years—this column has stated again and again that the Kennedy-Johnson overspending is carrying our country into a downward spiral toward a devaluation of the dollar.

On Dec. 11, 1961, this column noted Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon's statement: "The fixed dollar price of gold and the free convertibility of gold are the cornerstone of our monetary policy. President Kennedy has pledged that they will remain so. That pledge will be kept."

I commented: "Hokus, hokus, hokus!" Mr. Dillon must know that no man on Earth can make a pledge like that stick unless it is supported by the required performance.

New GOP Aide Believes Key
To Party Success Is Issues

COLUMBIA, Jan. 13 (UPI)— REPUBLICANS in choosing Ray C. Bliss as their new national chairman picked a master planner who believes the key to party success is issues as much or more than the individual candidate.

The sandy-haired chairman is a political moderate who is a leader in getting a consensus of actions involved in any matter before starting out on a course. Once done he likes a bold plan of action.

This ability to win a consensus is shown in all factions agreeing to Bliss as a successor to Dean Burch with Bliss to take over April 1.

But of all the honors which have come to him, Bliss perhaps wears most the title of precinct committeeman in his home city because he has said many times the precinct workers are the heart of the party. He figures that in any close election an organization can swing around five per cent of the vote but it is the precinct workers who are ultimately responsible for this.

The new chairman remained neutral during the jockeying last year for the presidential nomination although there were indications Sen. Barry Goldwater was his personal choice. Still Bliss kept his mouth shut until the convention selected the Arizona senator and then he went to work. None could doubt that he put the maximum of his energy, even to the point of endangering his health, and the maximum of party funds into the campaign effort.

Longtime Ohio friends expect him to be neutral toward those with political ambitions while he concentrates on issues and on developing an organization. It would be his hope that the party, once it finds the issues, could come up with candidates who could present them effectively.

This has been one of his strong points in Ohio. As chairman he ran a large, well-staffed office that worked for the Republican party and never for individual candidates until they were nominated. Even then the office was operated for the party with no official or candidate, including those on the best of terms with Bliss, dictating the operation of his office.

Bliss is a pro who began making a science of politics as a volunteer worker in a 1951 mayor's race in his home city of Akron.
He learned then that issues were the key and he developed his own polls to pinpoint those issues.

Since then Bliss has made an art of political polls, using them to the fullest with amazing accuracy long before they became a campaign by-word.

The new chairman had several times before passed up opportunities to be chairman. His friends saw him taking the job not only out of party loyalty but because the party's audition is tailor-made to his ideas.

They see Bliss as running the party headquarters for the party in all wells, with close relationship with state chairmen, and not for any individual candidate or ideological group.

He also saw this as an opportunity to begin at the bottom, considering the party's deficiencies last November, to develop new programs designed to attract voters in areas that traditionally have been Democratic.

In Ohio he was able to win GOP support among Negroes and minority groups in several elections as well as make a strong appeal to business and labor groups.

He is not talkative and dislikes making speeches and communicating immediately upon every issue. This was one reason he had declined the chairmanship in past years. Instead, he wants to weigh the problem and hunt for the solution instead of the headlines.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, Jan. 13 (UPI)—"Keep your eye on the other guy—he's the big question mark in traffic," this is the warning of state police Superintendent A. E. Perkins, who says all motorists have a moral responsibility to prevent accidents "even if the other fellow is at fault." The safe driver must watch for many violations by others, he said, including failure to heed stop signs, passing on a curve and pulling from a curb into traffic without warning.

POCATELLO, Jan. 13 (UPI)—Wayne L. Lovelace, a Pocatello attorney, was appointed justice of the peace today by the Bannock county commissioners. He fills a vacancy left by the resignation of Callie A. Caldwell who is joining the law firm of Johnson and Olson. Lovelace was one of four men, all attorneys, who sought endorsement of the Bannock county Democratic central committee. The committee announced that Lovelace was its choice for the post after hearing speeches by him, Robert Bennett, John Long and Max Parrish.

BOISE, Jan. 13 (UPI)—The Idaho supreme court ruled yesterday that access roads leading from highways to homes and farms are subject to condemnation proceedings. It reversed an order of dismissal entered in eighth district court in a suit filed by Dennis McKenney against Harold Anselmo and his wife, Barbara. McKenney had sought to condemn a right-of-way over the Anselmos' property but the defendants contend it had been cultivated in the past and was not subject to such proceedings. The high court held, however, that the property could be considered an access road under state laws and ordered the dismissal order reversed.

BOISE, Jan. 13 (UPI)—The department of public health expects 55 public health workers in Idaho Falls today for the fourth in a series of continuing education seminars. Mrs. Duby Leonard, RN, public health nursing consultant, said the seminar theme will be "The Budget process and administrative practice."

POCATELLO, Jan. 13 (UPI)—Law enforcement officials from throughout southeast Idaho began attending three days of classes here today in the national guard armory on riot control. The classes are sponsored by the federal bureau of investigation as part of a nationwide education of law enforcement officials on the problems of controlling riots. The program was initiated at the request of President Johnson following a series of riots which occurred throughout the nation last summer. Directing the classes here is Robert W. Evans, director of the Idaho-Montana FBI office at Butte, Mont. Sharing the platform with FBI instructors will be representatives of the Idaho national guard and the Idaho state police. Tom Whyte, Idaho Falls, assistant Bonneville county prosecuting attorney, also will give a talk on laws concerning control of riots.

POCATELLO, Jan. 13 (UPI)—License plate sales at the Bannock county courthouse have gained this week, but employees at the assessor's office figure they will have at least $500 more to sell before Monday. The number sold stood at 13,802 at noon yesterday. Judging from past records, about 10,000 must be sold by Monday. Deadline for installation of the 1965 plates is Monday at midnight. Iva Cox, assessor, said license plates would be for sale Thursday in Lava Hot Springs at city hall from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. She said they would be sold there for one day only. License plate prices are 1963 and newer models, $17.50; 1962-61, $15; 1960-59, $12.50; 1958-59, $10; and, 1958 and older, $7.50. The assessor's office asked purchasers to have the correct amount of money ready and either their registrations or title when buying plates.

POCATELLO, Jan. 13 (UPI)—Marriage and ownership of cars were leading factors contributing to high school dropout in Pocatello schools last year, according to a study by a school psychologist. Dr. Marvin Fifield said more than half the boys who dropped out owned cars. More than 60 per cent of the girls who dropped out were married or planned to be shortly, he said. Many of the dropouts, Fifield added, were following in the steps of their parents who had dropped out of school years earlier. Fifield's findings were contained in a preliminary report to the Pocatello school board. He said the purpose of the study was to find ways to keep students in school. He suggested more publicity to warn students what they face when they leave school and said teachers must "reach out" to students and improve their image.

BONNERS FERRY, Jan. 13 (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies in Boundary county said yesterday that two people whose bodies were found east of here Monday apparently died of asphyxiation. The two, Ronald Eric Breaser, 35, and Doreen Ross Anderson, 23, were in a car parked on a side road. Deputies said the pair apparently died between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. Sunday night. The car was reported to have had a leaky muffler.

NAMPA, Jan. 13 (UPI)—First Security Bank corporation announced yesterday it will build new facilities in Nampa and give its present building to the city. V. R. Steffensen, president of the First Security Bank of Idaho, said the new bank building will be located on the site formerly occupied by the Dewey Palace hotel. He said the present building is being presented to the city with the hope it can be used for some purpose, such as a library. Construction of the new building will start within 60 to 90 days, the bank president said.

BOISE, Jan. 13 (UPI)—A journalism clinic for Idaho newspaper editors and publishers will be staged in Boise Saturday by the Idaho State University department of journalism and news bureau. The clinic, which will start at 2 p.m., will be held in conjunction with the annual mid-winter convention of the Idaho Press association and Idaho Allied Dailies. Journalism department Chairman Frank Hash said the clinic has been designed as a professional-level refresher workshop.

POCATELLO, Jan. 13 (UPI)—Leniency has been asked for three of the four men who pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the July shooting of Downey Village Marshal Daniel Woodland. Sentencing of the men and two women who pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter has been set for 10 a.m. next Tuesday by Judge Gus Carr Anderson. The six Chicagoans originally were charged with first degree murder in the gunfight slaying of the marshal when he allegedly surprised them at a burglary. Defense Attorney B. A. McDevitt asked leniency for all the men except Harvey Pulver, 22, who, he said, had admitted shooting the marshal. Leniency for Carleton Lee Ellif, 21, was asked on grounds he was not involved in the shooting. McDevitt asked leniency for Eugene Roddy, 46, who, he said, spent nine years in prison for a crime he did not commit, and Edward Kling, 29, who, he said, was taken from alcoholic parents at an early age. James B. Green, Bannock county assistant prosecutor, asked maximum sentences in the Idaho state penitentiary for all four men.

Carol Shields,
DeVall Repeat
Nuptial Promise

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 13—Carol Shields, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Richard DeVall, brother of Carol DeVall, Filer, and Mrs. Leah DeVall, Ketchum, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony Jan. 3 in the church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. Mr. Shields officiated at the double-ring rites, assisted by the Rev. Robert Jackson, Twin Falls.

Altar decorations featured sheets of white chrysanthemums tied with blue bows and tied with tapers in candelabras.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Swiss-imported acetate. The gown was fashioned with a plateau neckline enhanced with pearls, lily point sleeves with a brocade motif, and a full skirt which flowed into a chapel train.

The bride's shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a pearl lace. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her parents, with a bouquet of white gardenias tied with white satin streamers.

Carolyn Park was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marlene Henry, Nampa; Jamie Pierce and Judy Meyer. They were blue satin brocade dresses and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums and feathered carnations. Each attendant wore a cross on a necklace chain, a gift from the bride.

Rhonda Lancaster was flower girl, and Donald Shields, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Candleholders were Gary Shields, brother of the bride, and Michael Chandler.

Melvin Hine was best man. Others were James DeVall and Eddie DeVall, brothers of the bridegroom, and Earl Shields, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Frank Horst, organist, played traditional wedding music.

Pro Grid Loop to Mend Signing Rules and Stay In Harmony With Colleges

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic association took a strong stand on its relations with professional football Tuesday and the commissioners of the two major pro leagues immediately issued statements of qualified support. In New York, Pete Rozelle, National Football league commissioner, issued an order to his 14 teams prohibiting them from signing college players until after the player had completed all his eligibility, including post-season bowl games.

American Football league commissioner Joe Foss praised the NCAA report in Chicago and said he is "confident something can be worked out that will be acceptable to the NCAA and all concerned."

Foss said the NCAA report, made by Louisiana State athletic director Jim Corbett, chairman of the group's pro-relations committee,

Opens Track

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) — The way was cleared Tuesday night for collegians to participate in major Eastern indoor track meets this season.

This came about when the National Collegiate Athletic association council, the policy-making body of the organization, approved an amendment which, in effect, set a March 1 effective date on an NCAA ban against such unsanctioned participation.

The action came in the form of an amendment to an amendment.

* * * *

It will be presented to the AFL owners meeting in Houston this week-end.

"We'll sit down and go over it word by word and line by line and we'll thrash it out," Foss said.

Foss said it would be premature to make a full statement on the report until he can go over it with the AFL owners.

"There's no sweat now," Foss said.

The damage that has been done this season is done. We've got until the close of the 1965 season to get this thing in operation," Foss said.

The premature signing of players was only one point in the NCAA report, but was the only one on which Foss and Rozelle had statements.

Corbett candidly admitted that "we may have a couple of hundred assistant coaches throughout the country involved with the pros."

His report asked that the NCAA "deal forthrightly with this reprehensible practice without delay."

The recommendation asked:

1. The draft of the respective leagues be held after the last NCAA certified post-season game:

2. That the pros do away with future draft picks;

3. That the pros "insist that no member club under any circumstances at any time in the future be permitted to sign a college player" before his eligibility has been completed.

4. That any one having information regarding violations place such information in the hands of the NCAA.

The recommendation next will go to the NCAA council, the group's policy-making body, for action and is expected to be presented at the NCAA's 1966 convention.

Corbett emphasized, however, that while the NCAA could put no teeth in the proposal until after the next football season, individual colleges can and should take action immediately.

He said, as an athletic director, that if any assistant coach on his staff were found guilty of scouting or recruiting for the pros that man would lose his job.

Corbett said his committee had the names of eight coaches who were paid by the pros for scouting and recruiting and said, "there may be a couple of hundred more."

He recommended that the report become a part of the NCAA constitution, thereby making institutions whose employees are found in violation subject to disciplinary action.

He also asked "that within 30 days of this meeting each professional league provide full assurance to the NCAA of their compliance with the foregoing rules."

Foss had said earlier however that he was not in accord with the plan of postponing the AFL draft.

A third report concerns the racially inspired move of the AFL all-star game from New Orleans to Houston. This seems rather a just dessert in that New Orleans is no more a part of the American Football league than Twin Falls. There had to be several other reasons.

It falls in the same category as NFL's runner-up bowl, which is played in Miami, several hundred miles from the nearest NFL town. If the regular league games are good enough for local consumption, which also pays a large part of the bill, then the "bonus" games should go to these same spots.

There is another thing in the news that points up the very increasing role television is playing in the sports world. That was the application by CBS to inaugurate a Santa Claus bowl at Atlanta, Ga., which would be played on Christmas day.

After buying the Yankees, the CBS "braintrust" must be sitting up late thinking of new ideas. It is a matter of simple economics. The networks pay $50 to $100,000 for exclusive telecasting rights of the various bowl games. For that amount of money they can rent the stadium and put on a lavish display. The gate would to all practical purposes be clear profit plus the profit the network would generally make in selling the advertising time.

It appears better than a license to steal. Where does it end?

Outdoor Group Reelects Smith, Jarvis to Board

Vernon E. Smith and Nelson Jarvis, Twin Falls, were selected as directors Tuesday night and three new directors were named at the annual reorganization meeting of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association. The new directors are Nyal Hoffman, Ruhl and Donald Zuck and Wayne Hauey, both Twin Falls. Frank Thiett, the third outgoing director, asked to be taken off the ballot, although he stated he would remain active in all the affairs of the club.

Wolves Grab Second Win Over Tigers

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 13 — The Castleford Wolves, getting 22 points from Hopwood, rang up their second straight decision over the Richfield Tigers 68-58 Tuesday night.

Richfield stayed within contention throughout the first three quarters before Castleford sprung into a 16-point lead early in the final period. Richfield pulled within eight points before playing back again.

Castleford won the preliminary

The meeting began with a summation of the projects accomplished during the previous year, the main one being the new pump at the fish hatchery which was installed to protect the fish during the spring water shortage.

Also covered in the summation were the small problems that come up every year, such as seasonal road closures and barricades. It was pointed out by

Smith that if these problems were not nipped while they were still small they could get out of hand. However, all that was needed in most instances was a discussion with the person or persons involved. It was also pointed out that during the year farmer cooperation was at its best.

According to Stacey Gebbards, fish biologist for the Idaho fish and game department, Magic reservoir was the best producing fishing spot for the year in Southern Idaho. It was also the most heavily fished.

Ed Scholes, district conservation supervisor, gave reports on big game and upland game birds in place of Dale Tanner, big game biologist, and Charles Blake, bird biologist, who were present along with first baseman Bob Chance, a press party which included two of the major figures in the two big deals Washington has completed since the end of last season.

Howard Signs With Senators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — Frank Howard, outfielder obtained from the Los Angeles Dodgers, signed Tuesday with the Washington Senators for an estimated $35,000.

General Manager George Selkirk said the 6-foot, 7-inch Howard received the same pay he got last season with the Dodgers despite a below-par .225 batting average.

Howard was present along with first baseman Bob Chance, a press party which included two of the major figures in the two big deals Washington has completed since the end of last season.

Raft River Bows 60-48 To Rockland

MALTA, Jan. 13 — The Raft River Trojans closed to within four points of the Rockland Bulldogs in the fourth quarter Tuesday night but ended up giving the game away 60-48 on five passes and several fous.

The Trojans ended the first quarter with a one-point lead but lost it in the second. The Bulldogs pulled out in front by eight points during the third and the Trojans didn't come close until the fourth.

Cancer Takes Author of Prize Play

TV Schedules

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 13

"The Virginian," 6:30 p.m., NBC—Singer Fabian chips in another dramatic performance tonight, this time as a schizophrenic in "Two Men Named Laredo." At times he's quiet and peruses poetry, but he also can be violently dangerous.

"The Dick Van Dyke Show," 7 and 9 p.m., CBS—Buddy plays a practical joke on Rob, who does nothing in retaliation. However, when an internal revenue man shows up to check on Buddy's income tax, he's convinced it's Rob striking back.

"NBA All-Stars," (Color Special), 8 p.m., NBC—St. Louis is the scene for the 15th annual NBA All-Star basketball clash between East and West divisions.

"ABC Scope," (8:30 p.m.), ABC—Tonight's documentary studies capital punishment. Included is an interview with a man awaiting the electric chair in Cook county, Ill.

"Burke's Law," (10 p.m., ABC)—Tonight Burke investigates the murder of a popular author of children's books. Suspects are Lola Albright, George Hamilton, Walter Pidgeon, Ann Blyth and Jan Murray.

BEST WEDNESDAY NIGHT MOVIES

"This Could Be the Night," (1957)—John Simonsen, Tony Franciose, Joan Blondell and Paul Douglas (8 p.m., KTVB)—Fairly good comedy about a quiet schoolteacher who has trouble making ends meet so she works part-time in a loud night club.

"Serenade," (1956)—Mario Lanza, Joann Fontaine and Vincent Price (10:30 p.m., KSL)—Story of a derelict singer who is torn between the love of two women and his own ambition. The plot isn't much, but Lanza's singing is okay.

"Roughshod," (1948)—Robert Sterling, Gloria Graham and John Ireland (10:55 p.m., KBOY)—Rancher and a dance hall girl elude three escaped convicts. Fairly suspenseful western.

School Eyes Improvements At Hagerman

HAGERMAN, Jan. 13—Trustees of the Hagerman school district No. 233 considered improvements needed for both grade and high school buildings at their meeting Monday evening.

These improvements in the grade school building include heating plant and enlarged classrooms and an all-purpose room. The high school improvements include in the chemistry laboratory and science rooms, and the music department. The present chemistry laboratory is inadequate and a fire hazard.

Darrell Leatham, Boise architect, has drawn some rough drafts on proposed changes which board members studied. It was decided each trustee would appoint three members from his zone to meet with the board and study needs and inspect the present school facilities.

Copies of the recently revised school board policy are available at the school office and may be obtained by calling for them, or Supt. George Carnie will mail them on request.

Carnie reported the home economics department is planning a child care program in conjunction with studies of kindergarten-age children.

Children ages 4 and 5 will attend the kindergarten session for two weeks from 10:30 a.m. to noon in the home economics rooms. About 12 children are expected to attend.

Superintendent Carnie was authorized to attend the state superintendents meeting in Boise Friday and Saturday.

U.S. Nagged by Problem of Dwindling Gold

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Gold is glittering in the news again as a metal element nearly as heavy as lead and more than 3½ times heavier than iron. In daily life, however, as usual in its 3,000-year history, gold is trouble. The trouble for the United States is that its vast stockpile of gold is shrinking. Thus, though the nation's economy is booming, and the standard of living is higher than any the world has ever known, the country is nagged by the problem of gold.

Here are some questions and answers which expose the past, present and future of gold and its relationship to the United States citizen:

Q: What is gold?
A: Gold is a malleable yellow metal element nearly as heavy as lead and more than 3½ times heavier than iron. In daily life, however, as usual in its 3,000-year history, gold is trouble. The trouble for the United States is that its vast stockpile of gold is shrinking. Thus, though the nation's economy is booming, and the standard of living is higher than any the world has ever known, the country is nagged by the problem of gold.

Because of the limited world supply of gold, most nations abandoned the gold standard in the 1930's. The United States kept its money system partially linked to gold.

Because of the limited currency and reserve deposits, the gold level is about 125 million dollars less than a year ago.

Q: Why is the United States gold supply dwindling?
A: Gold leaves the nation because it is used for monetary purposes. The foreign government have accumulated dollars because the United States has paid more than it has received in international transactions.

Q: Is Congress likely to propose such a plan?

A: Recent samplings of congressional opinion indicate lawmakers favor the idea.

Operation of Johnson's Health Care Program Is Explained

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—If you're sick enough to go to a hospital, the administration's health care for elderly program would pick up all the bill under the administration's health care for elderly program.

federal aid would be available whether you're rich or poor, somewhere in between, or whether you're working or not. There would be no means test and you would not be required to tell anyone how well or poorly off you are.

But the person who has to go to a hospital would have to pay a maximum of $60 days. It would not, however, pay for any medical or surgical expenses; these would have to be covered by private insurance.

In addition to hospitalization, there are three fringe benefits:

The government will pay for something close to it. The administration proposal contains a deductible factor before the insurance begins to pay off.

This deductible would be set at one day's national average cost of hospitalization. At present, this figure would be about $40.

After that, the government would pay hospital bills up to a maximum of $60 days. It would be paid for up to $60 days. This is called post-hospital extended care. It would not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1967, however.

Besides the question of who gets what, there's the question of who pays for the proposed new services. The answer is that just about everyone pays, but only those 65 and over collect.

30 days of outpatient service. But again, this begins after the deductible factor. On outpatient service, the deductible would be half the amount of the cost of hospitalization at current rates. This is called post-hospital extended care. It would not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1967, however.

The program would pay for home health service, such as a visiting nurse, or other health worker, but not a doctor. This would include 240 such home visits a year.

The government will pay for 14 days after hospitalization, a patient required treatment at a medical facility which has an arrangement with a hospital to continue the care, that also would be paid for up to $60 days.

The administration's program would be under social security, though maintained in a separate social security earning $5,600 a year would pay $28.10 a year into the hospital insurance fund. Even if more were earned, the same amount would be paid in. If less, there would be less paid in.

The social security hospitalization fund would pay the costs of those over 65 collecting from the program but not covered by the social security retirement system. Then, each year congress would appropriate money from the general treasury to repay the fund.

In other words, all taxpayers would subsidize the two million oldsters who would come under the plan but who would not be under social security.

keeping arrangement would work this way:

The social security hospitalization fund would pay the costs of those over 65 collecting from the program but not covered by the social security retirement system. Then, each year congress would appropriate money from the general treasury to repay the fund.

In other words, all taxpayers would subsidize the two million oldsters who would come under the plan but who would not be under social security.

—The program would pay for home health service, such as a visiting nurse, or other health worker, but not a doctor. This would include 240 such home visits a year.

The administration's program would be under social security, though maintained in a separate social security earning $5,600 a year would pay $28.10 a year into the hospital insurance fund. Even if more were earned, the same amount would be paid in. If less, there would be less paid in.

For those elderly persons not under social security but eligible for the hospital insurance benefits, the federal government would pick up the tab. The book-

1965 to Be Good Tourism Year

TODAY, Jan. 13—The most important year 1965 should be a happy year for international tourism. Americans are expected to play a bigger part than ever in the picture—and with a better impact, or "image" than they once delivered. A lot of the people who deal with tourists have decided that Americans are pretty good sports in comparison with some visitors from other countries.

Americans are certainly less conspicuous in their travels than they used to be.

Plenty of Americans who traveled in the early postwar years complained bitterly of questionable food, daily swindles, exacerbating tangles with shopkeepers, indifference and even hostility.

Often, the complaints were justified. Many countries rocked by the war were in no position to be gracious hosts, even for sorely needed hard currency. Not many other people could

School Aide
Office Bill
Is Introduced

BOISE, Jan. 10 (UPI) — A joint resolution asking that the office of superintendent of public instruction be made appointive rather than elective was introduced in the senate today.

If the resolution passes the legislature, the issue will be put on the ballot at the next general election for a vote of the people.

The superintendent now is elected for a four-year term. Sen. Vincent A. Nally, R. Gem chairman of the senate education committee, said another bill will be introduced that would place the power to appoint the superintendent in the hands of the state board of education.

In the 1963 session a similar resolution failed to pass.

Grange Raps Proposed Sales Tax

Twin Falls county Pomona Grange went on record Friday as opposing the state sales tax. A letter was sent to the senators and representatives concerning the matter.

Mrs. Howard Antes, Buhl, spoke to the Pomona Grange at the Filer Grange hall on life in Argentina during her seven years in the U.S. embassy.

Will Beck, Murtaugh Grange, presented a resolution of the election of state officers. The group decided to give this further consideration and study before voting on it.

An extensive report was given by Noah Oliver urging interested people to attend a zoning meeting Jan. 27 for the west end and on Jan. 28 for the east end. He said both meetings are of vital importance to the agricultural interest.

Degree teams were organized to perform for the first part of March. Team captains will be selected from 15 subordinate

Slow

BOISE, Jan. 13 (UPI) — Sometimes—not all the time—the wheels of state move a little slow. From all appearances, it will be another week before the new voting machine can be set up and operating in the house of representatives.

The electronic machine was to be installed a few days ago but problems in the shipment of parts have occurred.

Parts weren't the only problem. Weather had a hand in delaying representatives of the firm in Cheyenne.

Granges to develop and start practical degree work.

Each subordinate Grange master gave reports on their membership increases. The membership committee, made up of four couples, is attending each subordinate to give the approach and material to secure new members.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the Filer Grange.

A CONE DIFFERENT to the one to which Astronaut Edwin Aldrin, Jr., is accustomed, is inspected by him at Lava-Trotter park, Hawaii. This one is a lava cone formation which Aldrin inspected while on a field trip to Hawaii Island for that purpose. Scientists believe the island's lava formations resemble those on the moon. (AP wirephoto)

They grabbed him. Officers said Kouliapis apparently suffered either a broken or dislocated collarbone in the struggle. He was taken to a hospital for treatment, then booked into the hospital's prison ward.

Police said they found what amounted to a small arsenal in his auto.

Officer said Kouliapis' car parked on the wrong side of a Gardena street with the motor running. They said they were approaching it when a man stepped out of the shadows, revolver in each hand, and began firing wildly.

The missionary and his parents also spoke. A special musical number was furnished by the Shoshone Mormonettes, directed by Mrs. Velma Allen.

Cooper was graduated from Dietrich high school as valedictorian of his class. He attended one year at Idaho State University where he was majoring in chemistry.

Vetoed Controversial Bill May Reappear

BY RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE, Jan. 13 (UPI)—A politically-controversial bill vetoed with some reluctance two years ago by Gov. Robert E. Smylie may be reintroduced soon in the 39th Idaho legislature.

There was speculation yesterday that Reps. Durrell Manning, D-Bannock, and W. Larry Mills, R-Ada, may sponsor again a measure to give state legislators voting membership on county political central committees.

When they ran that one up the flagpole in 1965, political leaders—particularly the Republicans—fired at it like war had been declared. The measure survived a siege in both houses and then was shot down by Smylie.

"This proposal would seem on its face," Smylie wrote in his veto message, "to be conducive to party harmony, increase the chances of establishing partisan responsiveness between the central committee candidates and the legislative candidates, and in general attain a more effective two-party organization."

"I appreciate that this was the purpose of the measure. Unfortunately, the proposal appears to have had the opposite result. The central committee of one of our parties has called forthrightly for executive disapproval of this legislation and has done so by unanimous vote."

"We're fully convinced that the beneficial results which I believe were the objectives of the measure would be achieved by approval of this bill. I would have signed it. Current experience indicates that the opposite result could more probably be attained."

And for that reason, the governor said, he was vetoing the bill.

In 1963, the bill was drafted that legislators could be members of county central committees but could not hold office on it. Usually reliable sources indicate the 1965 version might not be as mild. It is not secret that, in some counties, legislatures and their county central committees do not always see eye to eye and the idea of giving the law-makers a voice on those committees is repugnant still to some.

But whether they again could persuade the governor—as one party did in 1963—to give such a bill the kiss of death remains to be seen. But if the bill is introduced again, and some sources seem certain it will be, you can expect some fireworks in the legislative halls.

ADVENTURE plays a large role in the life of Charles Jackson Wheeler, 21, who has accomplished the adventures most young men dream about. Here he displays trophies as he told newsmen he was named Monday as one of the 10 Outstanding Young Men of 1964. Wheeler has climbed the Matterhorn, swum the Amazon, lived in the Ecuadorian jungle with head-shrinking Indians and inadvertently helped capture Viet Cong guerrillas in the Nam. (AP wirephoto)

Finding Taxable Income Not Easy as It Sounds

By RAY DE CRANE

Newspaper Enterprise Association
"Just what income do I report on my income tax return?"
The answer is far more complicated than appears on the surface and whole books have been written on the subject.

In a broad sense every dollar of income you receive is taxable unless it is expressly exempted by law.

Your salary or wages is naturally the starting point in determining your income for the year. But how about life insurance dividends, stock dividends, savings account interest, jury duty fees, gains realized on the sale of stock or any of your property, tips, gifts, penalties, prizes, awards, bonuses?

Some items of income are specifically exempt from tax either wholly or in part. Fully tax exempt are such things as social security payments, unemployment benefits paid to you by a state but supplemental unemployment benefits paid from a company-financed fund and strike benefits paid by a union are taxable. Gifts, bequests and inheritances, life insurance paid upon the death of the insured, accident and health insurance proceeds, casualty insurance proceeds, interest on tax-free securities (such as municipal bonds).

None of the foregoing need be reported on your income tax return.

But here are some items which must be reported: tips received by waiters, waitresses, cab drivers and other service employees; commissions for steering business to a company or to a salesman; jury duty fees; gambling winnings; hobby income.

Interest received from banks, savings and loan and life insurance companies have been a big source of nonreported income for many years. Internal Revenue Service officials have taken steps in recent years to plug this hole in the dice.

That is the reason your banks and insurance companies have requested your social security number. They are now required by law to inform internal revenue of all interest payments or credits of $10 or more.

Disregard the advice of well-meaning but misinformed friends that interest must be more than a certain figure before it need be reported. All savings account and life insurance interest is taxable.

If your minor children have savings and you have the right to make deposits and withdrawals the interest earned on those deposits should appear on your tax return.

In certain carefully established accounts where the minor child is the sole custodian of the funds and the parent may not make withdrawals, the interest is taxable only to the minor. Of course, he has to have at least $900 in total income (including the interest) before he is required to pay tax.

Dividends receive special treatment. Dividends on life insurance policies are not taxable. They are considered to be a return of a portion of your own payment. However, if the dividends are permitted to accrue with your insurance companies the interest on them is taxable.

Speaking of dividends, the so-called dividends credited to your account by a savings and loan or a credit union are treated as ordinary interest on your tax form.

Interest earned on your "B" bonds is also reportable. You may elect to report the interest annually or to wait until the bonds are redeemed and then treat as interest the increase over the purchase price.

Dividends received from fully taxable domestic corporations (this includes most dividends received from U.S. companies) are only partially taxable. Beginning in 1964 a husband and wife are each entitled to exclude the first $100 in dividends received. The full amount of the dividends must be reported but $100 per

Birch Society Blasted by Sen. Church

Fairfield Scout Troop Organized

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—Sen. Frank Church, D., Idaho, charged yesterday that the John Birch society is "the tap root of the conspiracy doctrine" and urged that the "fanatical right" be repudiated by all responsible citizens.

In a prepared senate speech, Church said it was dangerous to assume "the forces of irrationality and vituperation have been vanquished" by President Johnson's victory in November.

Citing examples of scare techniques he attributed to the "radical right," Church said:

"In the face of such vehemence, people voted heavily for the moderates. The landslide, some concluded, smothered the radical right."

"I do not agree."

Church said his speech was the first of several aimed at the radical right. He based his remarks on an article he wrote for the current edition of Look magazine.

The 40-year-old senator dubbed the Birch society as the largest and most influential group in FAIRFIELD, Jan. 13—Boy Scout troop #4 is being reorganized in Fairfield, sponsored by the Fairfield ward of the LDS church.

Arnold Hubbard is institutional representative; Del Lee, troop committee chairman; Harold P. Lee, Bishop Edward L. Packham and Jerry Moon as troop committed members. Dean Shaffer will be the scoutmaster.

The sponsors invite all boys in the county between the ages of 11 and 14 to become members of the troop.

The troop was organized in 1959 but recently became inactive.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

KING HILL, Jan. 13—Mrs. T. J. Heath and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wallace Ruberry, took Heath to Boise Friday where he was admitted to St. Alphonsus hospital for medical treatment. It was reported Heath had an acute attack of gall bladder.

this political area. He also named the Christian Crusade, headed by the Rev. Billy James Hargis; the Minutemen, headed by Robert B. DePugh, and the Rev. Carl McIntire, a radio broadcaster, head on 617 stations.

Other members of the sheriff's office in were Wes Woods, deputy sheriff; Glen Lovre, senior deputy sheriff; Esther Lovre, senior office deputy, and Ed Bailey, Alton, driver's license deputy.

The new sheriff, a Republican, defeated H. O. Warrell, Democrat, by 29 votes. Warrell had a recount of four precincts with the state attorney general's office. The recount was Nov. 30 with Warrell picking up nine votes. The attorney general's office then issued an order for a county wide recount.

In turn filed with the court to stop the county wide recount and requested a recount of the four precincts.

Judge Lloyd Webb denied the recount in the four precincts which were Burley one, and eight, and Stahrs.

Korean Veteran
Deadline
Due on Jan. 31

Many veterans of the Korean conflict who served the shorter time will lose their GI loan ability on Jan. 31, according to Lynn E. Kopan, director of veterans administration center.

Under the law, 10 years is added to the date of each veteran's discharge from his last period of military service which included service in the Korean conflict year to be added for three months of actual Korean conflict service.

The law also provides that no ability for Korean veterans expires before Jan. 31, so all veterans are eligible for loan until that date. There-

Kopan said, eligibility will depend on the individual discharge date.

Final date upon which all Korean conflict eligibility will end

Jan. 31, 1975.

Loan applications must be received by the VA before the veteran's eligibility expires.

14 Hospitals To Be Closed By Veterans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (UPI) —

The veterans administration (VA) advised lawmakers yesterday it will close 14 hospitals and 17 regional offices around the country. It estimated the savings at 125 million dollars a year.

Hospitals to be closed were picked on the basis of low patient demand, difficult staffing, and outmoded structures, the VA said.

Functions of regional offices on the list for closing are to be transferred to the nearest other available VA offices.

Target date for the closings is June 30.

Hospitals to be closed are at

Beth, N.Y.; Castle Point, N.Y.; Clinton, Ia.; Dwight, Ill.; Fort Bayard, N.M.; Grand Junction, Colo.; Lincoln, Nebr.; McKinney, Tex.; Miles City, Mont.; Rutland Heights, Mass.; Sunmount, N.Y.; Thomasville, Ga.; White City, Ore.; and the tuberculosis

No Joke

HOUSTON, Jan. 13 (UPI) — The crowd chuckled when famous basketball clown Goose Tatum dropped into the court floor after a high leap during the Harlem Globetrotters' exhibition game in Houston over the week-end.

Tatum's expressive face writhed in pain and he chuckled some more, thinking it was part of his comedy routine.

It was no joke to Tatum. He was rushed to a hospital where X-rays showed he had broken his leg.

At Brecksville, O., About 8,000 beds are involved including about 3,000 cased as dominoes.

No new patients will be accepted in the listed hospitals, lawmakers were told. Eventually, remaining patients will be transferred to other hospitals. All hospital employees are being offered jobs elsewhere.

Computer Offered to Beat Gambling Odds

ALAMOGORDO, N.M., Jan. 13.—A tiny, manually operated computer, small enough to be held in the palm of a hand, is offered as the latest method of beating the gambling odds.

But even its promoters admit that the computer's advantages at the blackjack card tables, while solid, are not likely to bankrupt Las Vegas casinos changed some of their rules for playing blackjack so the house could regain its mathematical advantage.

Gabriel Vogliotti, executive secretary of the Resort Hotel association in Nevada, said Thorp was first with a system to upset the "traditional percentages" in the game, which normally favors the house, 47.5 to 52.5 per cent.

H. T. Bean, physicist at nearby Holloman air force base, had been toying with the idea of a computer to help card players figure betting odds when Thorp's system attracted national attention last spring.

The computer is being manufactured as the brain-child of a college mathematician and a government physicist.

It is based on a gambling system developed by Edward O. Thorp, 32, associate professor of mathematics at New Mexico State University, and described in his book, "Beat the Dealer."

Thorp's system was proved so successful by its practitioners that Las Vegas casinos changed some of their rules for playing blackjack so the house could regain its mathematical advantage.

Gabriel Vogliotti, executive secretary of the Resort Hotel association in Nevada, said Thorp was first with a system to upset the "traditional percentages" in the game, which normally favors the house, 47.5 to 52.5 per cent.

H. T. Bean, physicist at nearby Holloman air force base, had been toying with the idea of a computer to help card players figure betting odds when Thorp's system attracted national attention last spring.

The player makes larger bets when the advantage is in his favor and comparatively small bets when the casino has the advantage.

Major problem in using the system is remembering the numbers of cards played and computing the changing ratios. This is where the computer comes in.

It subtracts tens and non-tens as cards are revealed and calculates the ratio of cards remaining in the deck. It can be operated by feel if necessary so the player does not have to look at it.

In fact, Bean advises "always keep the computer concealed and always play in a manner which will not arouse suspicion. Keep your winnings moderate at any one time in a casino, and move frequently."

Bean and Thorp both advised players to limit the winnings so the casino doesn't "take action to minimize your advantage."

Bean can do this by changing rules of the game, closing down the game or other methods.

Major problem in using the system is remembering the numbers of cards played and computing the changing ratios. This is where the computer comes in.
